With exchange consolidation, new trading platforms, regulation, economic turmoil... exchange leaders are facing challenges from multiple directions. How are they balancing the opportunities (new products, OTC clearing, global expansion) vs. threats (regulatory... response to speculative activity and high-frequency/algorithmic trading, new execution platforms)? What strategies are they pursuing to maximize the opportunities for growth? What is their outlook for the future of markets? What will the exchange business look like in three years?

10:30-11:00 NETWORKING REFRESHMENT BREAK

CONCURRENT SESSIONS @11:15

11:15-12:30 EVOLUTION OF ALGORITHMIC TRADING IN A HIGH-FREQUENCY TRADING WORLD

Chair: Dr. Mehmet Yanilmaz, Partner Myra Trading.

Panelists: Ercin Guducu, Head of IT, TurkDEX; Emrah Şener, Assistant Professor of Finance, Özyeğin University; Hakan Yamaçoğuz, İş Investment

Devising trading strategies and execution algorithms for high-frequency trading requires mathematical techniques and information technology tools that are different than strategies and algorithms for lower trading frequencies. This panel focuses on these techniques and tools to formulate the key success factors for algorithm design for high frequency operations.

11:15-12:30 INVESTOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP: WHY ARE FUTURES CHEAPER TO TRADE THAN CASH MARKETS?

Kevin Baldwin, Education Director, Institute for Financial Markets

Learn the symbiotic relationship of hedgers and speculators, standardized contract terms, central counterparty, margin terms, and the bid/offer spread.

11:15-12:30 TRADING TRAPS: WHAT IS OBVIOUS, IS OBVIOUSLY WRONG

A talk with legendary market innovator Peter Borish, CEO, Computer Trading Corporation and founding partner of Tudor Investment Corporation

Successful trading and asset management requires one to avoid common pitfalls. Peter Borish will share a few of the traps he has experienced in his 30 years of participating in derivative markets. Whether one is a long term investor or an active trader, the analytical approach begins with the same premise: the market is always right, so accept its discipline!

12:30-14:15 NETWORKING LUNCH AT EXHIBITOR SHOWCASE
CONCURRENT SESSIONS @14:15

14:15-15:30  FINANCIAL MARKET DEVELOPMENT: FINDING THE MIX OF LOCAL TALENT VS. GLOBAL PARTNERSHIPS

Chair: Vassilis Vergotis, Executive Vice President, Eurex-Americas

Panelists: Cuneyt Basaran, Head of Research at Bloomberg HT & Editor in Chief at Bloomberght.com and Thomas Krabbe, Director, Corporate Development & Finance, CME Group

Vibrant financial markets are a mix of designing successful products and attracting market participants. This session will explore organic growth of markets and the benefits of partnering. What is the landscape: who’s doing what with whom? What obstacles are commonly faced when accessing a new exchange and what are some successful strategies for dealing with them? How can exchanges and other organizations facilitate the process for traders? What role do incentive programs play in attracting talent?

14:15-15:30  INVESTOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP: TRADING STRATEGIES & TACTICS FOR INVESTORS

Kevin Baldwin, Education Director, Institute for Financial Markets

Learn how to structure and evaluate speculative strategies using exchange-traded futures.

14:15-15:30  TRADING ON NYSE LIFFE - OPPORTUNITIES FOR TURKISH INVESTORS

Fraser Cowie, Executive Director of Global Business Development, NYSE Liffe

15:30-16:00  NETWORKING REFRESHMENT BREAK

CONCURRENT SESSIONS @16:00

16:00-17:30  THE MODERN ERA: HIGH-FREQUENCY AND ALGORITHMIC TRADING, DIRECT ACCESS, CO-LOCATION, TECHNOLOGY

Moderator: Dr. Mehmet Yanilmaz, Myra Trading
Algorithmic trading in a high-frequency regime is essentially a technology business whose success depends on the competitiveness of its underlying communication backbone and the proximity of its trading engines to exchanges’ matching engines. Direct market access enhances the effectiveness of most high-speed algorithmic trading strategies by providing a single venue for high speed access to multiple markets, and enabling the capture of trading opportunities among the concurrent data streams from these markets.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS @16:00

16:00-17:30 INVESTOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP: HEDGING WITH DERIVATIVES

Kevin Baldwin, Education Director, Institute for Financial Markets

Learn how to use futures to quickly and cheaply modify the net beta of a portfolio. Do you want more beta or less beta?

16:00-17:30 THE GLOBAL LANDSCAPE: DEVELOPMENTS IN FINANCIAL REGULATORY REFORM AND THE IMPACT ON TRADING

Moderator: John Lothian, President, Electronic Division, The Price Futures Group and President & CEO of John J. Lothian Inc.

Panelists: Christopher Bates, Partner, Clifford Chance LLP (London); John Damgard, President, Futures Industry Association; and Emin Ozer, Deputy Chairman, Capital Markets Board of Turkey

In response to the financial crisis of 2008, regulators are busy crafting new rules to improve transparency, enhance market safety, and provide greater regulatory oversight of the over-the-counter derivatives markets. In the U.S., President Obama signed the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank) into law in July 2010. Once fully enacted, Dodd-Frank will bring sweeping changes to the structure of U.S. derivatives markets and to participants in those markets. The European Commission is considering similar rules. Hear our panel of legislative experts discuss the effectiveness, unintended consequences and extra-territoriality impact of the new rules.

17:30-19:00 COCKTAIL RECEPTION AND EXHIBITOR WORLD SHOWCASE
DAY 2 - TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 2011

REGISTRATION

8:00-8:30

OPENING REMARKS

8:30-8:45

John Damgard, President, Futures Industry Association; Trish Foshée, Executive Vice President, The Institute for Financial Markets

KEYNOTE ADDRESS: FINANCIAL CRISIS: CAUSES, IMPACTS AND SOLUTIONS

8:45-9:30

Aaron J. Katzel, Associate General Counsel, American International Group, Inc.

Building on the analysis set forth in his study, “The 2008 Financial Crisis and Its Aftermath: Addressing the Next Debt Challenge,” Mr. Katzel will explore how the dramatic increase in indebtedness that led to the 2008 financial crisis, continues to reverberate throughout the global economy. As experiences in recent months in Europe and the U.S. have demonstrated, the earlier crisis of excessive private sector leverage has transformed and is now engulfing over-indebted governments. With significant demographic changes looming in the developed economies, we seem to be on the verge of a “perfect storm” likely to signal an extended period of slow growth and, potentially, a fundamental realignment of economic power.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS @9:30

9:30-10:30

OUTLOOK FOR TURKISH MARKETS AND PRODUCTS: WHAT’S NEW, WHAT’S NEXT

Moderator: Yaman Başaran, Deputy Chief Executive Officer, TurkDEX

Panelists: Kartal Cagli, Executive Vice President and Acting Chief Executive Officer; İlhami Koç, CEO, IS Investments; Sabri Hakki Ulukartal, Chairman, Ulukartal Holdings
What has been the success and impact of Turkish product offerings? What is in the pipeline and where? What is the role of global competition, if any? This panel will be of interest to anyone who needs to understand the significance and ramifications of current and planned developments in Turkey, as well as, products traded outside Turkey.

9:30-10:30 INVESTOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP: THE OPTIONS REVOLUTION: AN INTRODUCTION TO OPTIONS

Kevin Baldwin, Education Director, Institute for Financial Markets and Gary Delany, Director of European Marketing and Education, Options Industry Council

Learn what an option is, the terminology, what rights the contract conveys, and the basic mechanics.

10:30-11:00 NETWORKING REFRESHMENT BREAK

CONCURRENT SESSIONS @11:15

11:15-12:30 CHANGES IN MARKET STRUCTURE

Chair: Jerome Kemp, Managing Director, Global Head of Listed Derivatives Sales & Clearing, Citigroup

Panelists: Anis Aki, Managing Director, Credit Suisse; Coskun Küçüközmen, Assistant Professor, Izmir University of Economics; Günsel Topbaş, Ph.D., Director, Citigroup

The financial crisis has prompted a tsunami of new rules in the U.S. and Europe. Although many of the rules have yet to be finalized, changes in market structure are beginning to be better understood. New execution venues for over-the-counter products, changes in clearing processes and procedures, new clearing venues...how are firms responding to all of these changes? How is the traditional futures business impacted?

11:15-12:30 INVESTOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP: OPTIONS FUNDAMENTALS

Kevin Baldwin, Education Director, Institute for Financial Markets and Gary Delany, Director of European Marketing and Education, Options Industry Council

Understand the three dimensions of risk with options; price risk, time risk, and volatility risk. Learn how buying options is like buying insurance, and selling options is like selling insurance.
11:15-12:30  EXPLORING THE ISSUES ON TAXATION OF DERIVATIVES IN TURKEY

Chair: Samil Demirkan, Director, TurkDEX

Panelists: Ömer Çakıcı, Taxation Authority of Turkey; Umurcan Gago, Partner, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP

12:30-14:15  NETWORKING LUNCH AT EXHIBITOR SHOWCASE

CONCURRENT SESSIONS @14:15

14:15-15:30  KEYNOTE ADDRESS: DMA IN EXCHANGE-TRADED DERIVATIVES: EFFECTS OF ALGORITHMIC TRADING ON THE LIQUIDITY IN FUTURES MARKETS

Dr. Ahmet Karagozoglu, Academic Director, Martin B. Greenberg Trading Room and Associate Professor, Department of Finance at the Frank G. Zarb School of Business, Hofstra University

Algorithmic trading and high frequency trading afforded by direct market access may have a greater impact on the exchange-traded derivatives markets than has been seen in the equity markets. The speaker’s recently published study breaks new ground to provide empirical evidence for the positive effects of algo trading on liquidity.

14:15-15:30  INVESTOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP: OPTIONS STRATEGIES

Kevin Baldwin, Education Director, Institute for Financial Markets and Gary Delany, Director of European Marketing and Education, Options Industry Council

Learn some basic options strategies achieved through spreading that mitigates exposure to time and volatility with a residual exposure to price that provides finite risk/reward.

Turkish Derivatives Exchange: Rising Star of Turkish Capital Markets

The pace of the Turkish economy has been outstanding during the last couple of years. A sticky high inflation period has ended and the economy has grown considerably. The EU accession process accelerated economic, structural and legal reforms and the need for an organized derivatives exchange in Turkey became much more apparent. After fulfilling all legal requirements, TurkDEX (Turkish Derivatives Exchange), a self-governing joint stock corporation, was formed and authorized by the Turkish Capital Markets Board to launch the first and only derivatives exchange in the country. The opening bell rang on February 4th, 2005 and a new era for Turkish financial markets started on TurkDEX’s electronic trading platform. The Exchange is headquartered in Izmir, the third largest city in Turkey. Izmir is located on Turkey’s west coast along the Aegean Sea and also has the second largest port in the country. As Turkey’s first entirely electronic derivatives exchange, TurkDEX offers a core product base of financial and commodity instruments. Its primary objective is to develop and provide derivatives to help traders, hedgers, and investors to manage their risks effectively. With the launch of TurkDEX, market participants now have the proper tools for managing their exposures to price fluctuations in foreign currency, interest rates, equities and commodities. Currently, TurkDEX offers debt, equity index, foreign currency and commodity future contracts, and plans to offer options on these contracts in the near future. TurkDEX is committed to meet the needs of its clients by responding to their demands. An efficient, fair, transparent and investor-friendly trading platform is the key to TurkDEX’s success. With a well functioning electronic trading platform, TurkDEX is operating via virtual access from everywhere, providing its clients with office independence, low transaction costs and liquidity. In addition to equal access for all participants to satisfy their needs and expectations, the trading system guarantees maximum accessibility and provides instant order entry and matching. Aiming to accelerate the growth of the Turkish financial industry as a whole, TurkDEX creates a new link between market participants and the financial markets.

The shareholders of TurkDEX include well-known prestigious financial and real sector institutions which have extremely strong capitalization. There are 10 seats at the Exchange Board: Two for Turkish Union of Chambers and Commodity Exchanges of Turkey, two for Turkish Association of Securities Dealers, one for Istanbul Stock Exchange, one for Izmir Mercantile Exchange, one for Chief Executive Officer of TurkDEX, and three for Turkey’s leading banks and brokerage houses.

Despite the global turbulence, TurkDEX’s trading volume continued to grow sharply. Today TurkDEX is listed among the major derivatives exchanges. The Futures Industry Association (FIA) publication short-listed TurkDEX as one of the fastest developing exchanges in the derivatives industry. TurkDEX has witnessed a tremendous growth in its trading value since its first year of operation. TurkDEX reached a total trading value of over 286 billion USD in 2010. Equity index options and currency options to be launched towards the end of 2011 are expected to give another big boost to the trading volume.

Takasbank

Takasbank serves as a bridge between money and capital markets by maintaining the robust, reliable and low-cost realization of funds transfer. Today it offers both settlement and banking services. Takasbank began operations in 1988 as a department within the Istanbul Stock Exchange (ISE), but it has since gained the status of a non-deposit taking investment bank and now offers sector-specific banking services to Turkish capital markets. Takasbank has an expanded product range within the banking services area in both cash and non-cash credit mechanisms to support final settlement. In addition to providing cross-border services to the market participants, Takasbank also represents Turkey in the international organizations with its international settlement identity system.

Takasbank, has, since its establishment, targeted and achieved sustainability in error-free operations. There are several factors behind this success. Experienced and well-trained human resources, the use of advanced information technology means, technological set-up and continuing investments in this respect, well-structured operational processes and the innovative approach of Takasbank have all helped achieve this target.
